

Planning Inclusive Communities Research Project

The Storyboard Project - Sharing your Story about Inclusive Communities

Sometimes it is easier to tell a story about what inclusive communities looks like and means to you.

When we say community, we mean where you live. Your home. For example, you live in a suburb in the Clarence City Council area.

When we say inclusive, we mean you have the same opportunities to do things in your community like everyone else.

To help you tell your story we have some questions for you.

When using this storyboard book, you can:

- Show your answers (drawing, design, photos, collage, etc.)
- Write your answers
- If there is a better way for you to tell us your story – please let us know.

Once you have finished this please send it back to us (follow the instructions on the last page).

We look forward to hearing your story

Doing the Storyboard

This next section will ask you questions about your community.

There are 5 questions.

For each question you can:

Write your answer

Insert an image

Your images can be drawings, paintings or collages.

You can skip any question you do not want to answer.

You can now start the Storyboard

Tell us about your community

1. What do you like about it?

2. How does it include people with disabilities and/or chronic illness?

Tell us about your experience

3. What helps you to be included? For example, what services, activities, spaces, people help you to be included?

You can tell us by writing your answer, inserting an image or choosing the images of things that help you to be included.

Choose what images below help you to be included. You can choose as many as you want.
